Overview

Rebecca is a family law specialist with an established practice in family finance matters and private law children's cases. Noted as having an approachable, professional and highly likeable manner with clients, solicitors and judges alike, she is considered a tenacious and incisive advocate with maturity beyond her year of Call. She is regularly instructed in complex disputes, often appearing against senior barristers of leading family chambers and has been instructed to appear against King's Counsel in both children and matrimonial finance matters.

Rebecca is sensitive toward the particular challenges which are posed in family litigation whilst maintaining a tactically-driven approach. She has experience cross-examining sensitive witnesses, both with and without the assistance of the Official Solicitor. Rebecca welcomes instruction at an early stage in proceedings in order to work in partnership with her solicitors so that her clients have the benefit of their full legal team.

Rebecca is a junior civil counsel member of the Attorney General's Panel and accredited by the Bar Council to question vulnerable witnesses.

Rebecca is the co-author of the book 'A Practical Guide to Practice Direction 12J and Domestic Abuse in Private Law Children Proceedings' published by Law Brief Publishing in December 2021. The link to the book can be found by clicking here.

Rebecca regularly speaks on all aspects of her specialisms to solicitors and other professionals, and is a contributor to legal publications. Rebecca is an Advocate Panel Member (formerly The Bar Pro Bono Unit). She is a member of the Complaints Panel and assistant to Chambers' librarian.

Practice Areas

Family - Finance

In financial remedy proceedings Rebecca deals with cases ranging from those dominated by need to those where the assets are substantial or difficult to trace. Rebecca regularly appears for applicants, respondents and interveners at all stages of proceedings, including multi-day final hearings and appeals, under the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 and the Civil Partnership Act 2004. She also represents parties in applications pursuant to the Trusts of Land and Appointment of Trustees Act 1996 and applications under Schedule 1 of the Children Act 1989.

Rebecca is frequently instructed at pre-issue stage, where focus is primarily upon strategy, settlement and advice as to evidence.

Rebecca has a wide range of experience in family finance matters in cases involving:

- Company valuation and complex company structures
- Fraudulent non-disclosure
- Dissipation of assets
- Assets abroad
- Complex pension assets to include public sector pensions
- The enforcement of consent orders
- The set aside of orders on the grounds of misrepresentation
- Cases involving insolvency
- Farming assets and agricultural issues

Rebecca regularly advises clients in conference, both before and after the issue of proceedings and is able to provide prompt written advice in all areas of family law. Rebecca prides herself on providing realistic and pragmatic advice whilst always being prepared to robustly pursue her client's case. Rebecca is happy to represent clients in all forms of Alternative Dispute Resolution, including arbitrations and private FDRs.

Private Law Children

Rebecca is popular with solicitors and clients in difficult, complex and/or high-conflict private children cases. Rebecca receives instructions in private law proceedings acting for both parents and children (through their rule 16.4 guardian) in complex welfare cases and is known as a tenacious advocate both inside and outside of court.

She has wide experience in the representation of parents and children in private law proceedings. This includes experience of:

- complex child arrangement proceedings;
- cases involving Re W determinations and where appropriate, the cross-examination of children (and other vulnerable witnesses);
- cases with an international element including international relocation;
- applications relating to surrogacy;
- female genital mutilation (FGM);
- forced marriage;
- allegations of factitious illness;
- child and parental death;
- cases involving the invocation of the inherent jurisdiction;
- proceedings which have current or previous local authority involvement;
- adoption.

On a number of occasions, Rebecca has secured favourable costs orders, including against publicly funded parties.

Rebecca represented the children, instructed by the National Youth Advocacy Service (NYAS), in a case spanning 27 months. The case concerned a finding of parental alienation by one expert of two, and the impact of domestic violence on child arrangements. The proceedings were described by the expert psychiatrist as "about as acrimonious as they get".
